

Welcome

Travel has been my life for over 20 years. St Augustine's famous quote remains as true to me today as it was when I first set up 2by2 Holidays – "the world is a book and those who do not travel, read only one page".

My first love was Africa, the place of my birth. Its remarkable wildlife and cultures continue to captivate me today. A recent visit to the wildlife of the Serengeti has starkly reminded me just how fragile the survival of so many endangered species remains and reinforced my belief that travel must always have conservation at its heart.

In recent years I have discovered the joys of travel in the Indian subcontinent and Latin America. The iconic sites and cultures there are no less enthralling and everywhere wildlife adapts and survives, from harsh barren deserts to cool mountain cloud forests and tropical wetlands.

My enthusiasm burns as brightly as ever and I continue to be as involved in every aspect of the business as I always have been, backed up by our superb travel team. I'm particularly thrilled that so many of our customers return time after time.

I do hope you find our latest brochure inspiring and we all look forward to hearing from you.

Chichen Itza

Mexico

Mexico's fusion of ancient Mayan and Aztec ruins, well-preserved colonial towns, exuberant festivals and fabulous beaches are an exciting mix. Their mouthwatering food, relaxed vibe and Day of the Dead celebrations are world-renowned.

Mexico's cultural heritage is unrivalled, with more World Heritage Sites than any other country in the Americas. It has everything, from ancient civilisations and indigenous villages to charming colonial towns, stunning landscapes and inviting Caribbean resorts with sweeping beaches and warm turquoise seas.

Don't make the mistake of overlooking Mexico's huge, vibrant capital city. Dating from 1325, Mexico City was originally the Aztec capital of Tenochtitlán, built on an island in Lake Texcoco. The arrival of the Spanish conquistadors led to the city's destruction and today the Zócalo (main square) boasts some fine colonial buildings. The world-class Museum of Anthropology is a must-see, with its many ancient Olmec, Aztec, Mayan and other pre-Columbian artefacts, including the Aztec Stone of the Sun (calendar stone).

About an hour to the northeast of the city, the vast and inexplicably abandoned pre-Columbian complex of Teotihuacan is another highlight. Here the spectacular Avenue of the Dead runs down the middle of the site, linking the Temple of Quetzalcoatl with the famous Pyramids of the Moon and the Sun. An early morning hot air balloon ride over these pyramids is truly unforgettable! On your way back you can visit the Our Lady of Guadalupe shrine, one of the most important Catholic pilgrimage sites on the American continent.

San Cristobal de las Casas

There's so much to do and see in Mexico's exciting capital and the picture-perfect colonial towns to the northwest are the place to soak up local culture.

For a fascinating cultural glimpse into modern urban life, take a boat ride on a colourful 'trajinera' through the canals of Xochimilco, a small village to the south of the lake on which Mexico City was originally built. While in the area drop into the Dolores Olmedo Museum to see a fine collection of Frida Kahlo's paintings as well as drawings by her husband, Diego Rivera. Kahlo fans may also want to visit the historic Blue House where she was born and lived, now the Frida Kahlo Art Museum.

The Colonial Highlands to the northwest of Mexico City are home to some sensational towns, many of which are World Heritage Sites, built on the proceeds of the region's silver and gold deposits. These colonial gems are bursting with Mexican character. A tour of the region will take you to Guanajuato with its energetic cultural scene, picture-perfect San Miguel de Allende and Morelia, complete with inspirational cathedral. For a quirky side-trip, visit Tequila and learn everything there is to know about the national drink.

To the southeast of the capital, under the gaze of Popocatepetl Volcano, Puebla is one of Mexico's oldest cities with over 70 churches.

The south of the country is steeped in history too, especially in Oaxaca, set in the shadow of the Sierra Madre. This area has been inhabited for over 3,500 years, culminating in the Aztecs and Spanish, and it shows. You can view a treasure trove of ancient remains with the pyramids, temples and plazas of Monte Albán being the most spectacular. From here the 360° views of the city and surrounding valley are fabulous. Oaxaca is also famous for its extravagant Day of the Dead festival, which is celebrated over Halloween (31 October to 2 November), when colourful costumes are worn.

The overland route from San Cristóbal de las Casas in the Chiapas region to the Yucatan Peninsula is also very popular. Picturesque San Cristóbal oozes Spanish charm with its cobbled streets, red clay tiled roofs and wrought iron balconies overflowing with flowers. Major sites include the cathedral and the open-air craft market at the church of Santo Domingo. Chiapas has the highest concentration of indigenous people found anywhere in the country, with many descendants of the Mayan civilisation living in traditional villages dotted round San Cristóbal. Ancient customs and crafts survive and mix easily with modern life.

From San Cristóbal the route northeast to the Yucatán Peninsula passes the magnificent ruins of Palenque. Located in thick jungle, Palenque is the most complete Mayan city ever discovered with fine architecture, latticed roof combs and bas-relief carvings. It was here that the jade death mask of Pakal the Great was found – now on display in the Museum of Anthropology in Mexico City. Remarkable buildings include the Temple of the Sun and the Royal Palace, even with only 10% of the site excavated.

Whether you have a private driver or are with a small group, the colonial port of Campeche is the ideal place to break your journey. Its well-rested baroque architecture, Spanish fortifications and walled city centre make this World Heritage Site especially photogenic. Continuing into the Yucatan region, Uxmal is one of Mexico's most important Mayan sites and was once home to 25,000 people. Its elegant architectural style is reminiscent of Palenque. Key buildings are the Pyramid of the Magician, built so that the west stairway lines up exactly with the setting sun at the summer solstice, the Governor's Palace and the Quadrangle of the Nuns.

A short drive takes you on to Mérida, the cultural capital of the Yucatan since the Spanish conquest and home to the region's best museums. From the Zócalo you can admire the city's main monuments – the Cathedral, Government Palace, Municipal Palace and Francisco Montejo's House. You can also take a day trip to the mangroves of the Celestun Biosphere Reserve.

Tulum

The Yucatán Peninsula is the cradle of Mayan civilisation and nowhere is this more evident than the spectacular site at Chichen Itza. Once a vast, sophisticated commercial hub with structures based on astonishing Mayan astrological accuracy, the towering stepped pyramid, El Castillo, also known as the Temple of Kukulcan, is iconic. Other extraordinary structures include the Great Ball Court, the Jaguar Temple and the House of Eagles. Both the Mayans and Aztecs practiced human sacrifice and the Skull Wall at Chichen Itza bears witness to these ritual killings.

The nearby 'magic town' of Valladolid is another colonial gem. From here you can visit Rio Lagartos, which has the highest concentration of flamingos in the whole of Mexico.

Further Mayan ruins can be seen at Tulum and Coba. Overlooking one of the best beaches in Mexico, 13th century Tulum was an important trading port with heavily fortified walls up to 5 metres high. In contrast, the ruins at Coba are buried deep in the jungle and only partially excavated.

Located on the northeastern tip of the Yucatan, Cancún is the gateway to Mexico's famous beaches and the starting point for self-drivers wanting to explore the peninsula independently. Jutting out between the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean, this stretch of coast is dubbed the Mayan Riviera, with over 100 miles of glorious beaches and turquoise waters. Year-round warm seas have encouraged large scale, all-inclusive hotels, but there are smaller boutique hotels to be found. Two hours to the north, the small island of Holbox offers a quieter alternative.

Day of the Dead festivities

The Yucatan is famous for its sensational beaches and the spectacular Mayan ruins at Chichen Itza and Tulum.

You can swim with whale sharks here from June to September. For divers, the extensive Mesoamerican Barrier Reef stretches south from the tip of the Yucatán all the way to Honduras, with the island of Cozumel offering a good jumping off point.

In the northwest, Baja California is a long narrow peninsula that separates the Gulf of California (Sea of Cortez) from the Pacific Ocean. It is one of the richest whale-watching regions on the planet as, from mid-January to mid-March, the world's entire population of Grey whales migrate from Alaska to breed in these warm, shallow lagoons. Scuba diving and game fishing is also exceptional. From La Paz you can take a ferry to nearby Isla Espiritu Santo – dubbed the Mexican Galapagos – to spot Blue-footed boobies, Frigatebirds and sea lions.

Moving inland, Mexico's Copper Canyon runs from Chihuahua to Los Mochis on the Gulf of California. This staggering system of rugged copper-coloured canyons is best seen from the famous Chihuahua-Pacific train, known locally as El Chepe.

When to go

The best time to visit Mexico is from December to May, as this is the dry season. The rainy season runs from June to November (the hot summer), when tropical thunderstorms occur. The Caribbean coast can be affected by hurricanes during this period. Whale watching in Baja California is best from mid-January to mid-March. Birding is best from November to March, when the migrants visit. This is also when the butterfly migration occurs.

Special Interest Holidays

Travel offers a wonderful opportunity to do and see things that you have previously only dreamed of. We can introduce you to a wonderland of new experiences and if you have a particular passion or interest, we are the people to talk to. Known for our wildlife and cultural holidays, we also have expertise in many other specialisms. Unlike most travel companies, we take the time to research and book even the most unusual requests. Here we highlight some of the special interest holidays that other customers have loved.

Walking

If you enjoy hiking, we offer a thrilling range of walking safaris – ranging from a few hours in the early morning or late afternoon, accompanied by an armed ranger, to specialised walking camps in Botswana and South Africa where all game viewing is on foot. We also offer point-to-point trails in Zambia, where you can spend a week walking from one remote bush camp to another – a truly unforgettable experience!

You can trek to see mountain gorillas, and in most of our destinations we can incorporate a variety of walking and hiking trails into your itinerary, ranging from day hikes to waterfalls and volcanoes in Costa Rica, to Peru's iconic Inca Trail and Nepal's stunning Annapurna Trek.

If you are sufficiently fit, you can even combine a safari in East Africa with climbing Mount Kilimanjaro, accompanied by experienced mountain guides.

Birding

Many of our customers are avid birders who want to spot regional endemics, as well as increase their life list, whilst others are more casual birders who simply enjoy the pleasure of identifying known species and spotting new ones. Whichever category you fit into, we know how important it is to design an itinerary that visits the best birding regions, at the right time of year.

With our extensive network of specialist birding guides, we can tailor make private tours to key destinations such as Costa Rica, Colombia, Mexico, Chile, Argentina, Peru, Ecuador and Galapagos, Brazil, Guyana, Madagascar, South Africa, Botswana, Kenya, Tanzania, India, Bhutan and Sri Lanka. We can also help you track down iconic species, such as the Harpy eagle in Panama.

We offer cheaper lodge-based birding holidays too, using guides employed by the various lodges – although the quality of guiding can vary – and a few scheduled departure tours in high demand countries such as Costa Rica.

Sports & Cultural Events

As we tailor make all our holidays, we cater to a wide range of special interests.

Golf

Our golf holidays in South Africa are particularly popular, allowing golfers to escape the northern winter and combine championship golf with wine tasting and a luxury safari or beach break. You can select the courses you wish to play, varying from social to world class.

Riding

Our riding holidays vary from thrilling mobile horseback safaris in Big Five territory for experienced riders, to family-friendly lodge-based riding holidays suitable for all levels.

Diving

The Indian Ocean offers outstanding diving in warm water, from Kenya all the way down to Zanzibar, Mozambique and South Africa, as well as the islands of the Maldives, Andamans, Mauritius, Seychelles and Madagascar. Galapagos offers live-aboard dive ships, whilst Mexico and Belize offer superb Caribbean diving.

Fishing

These same regions offer some of the best deep-sea fishing in the world. To this must be added the renowned fishing waters of the Baja Peninsula in Mexico.

Sports Events

Sports events are often the catalyst for a special holiday. We can source tickets to rugby internationals in South Africa and Argentina, as well as cricket tests in India, Sri Lanka and South Africa. We can also arrange Grand Prix packages.

Cultural Events

We can also build a holiday around special events such as the Rio Carnival, Holi in India or the Day of the Dead celebrations in Mexico

Cruises & Houseboats

Expedition cruises explore regions that are difficult to reach in other ways, whilst relaxing houseboats provide a different perspective from the water.

Expedition Cruises

Expedition cruises to the Galapagos Islands in Ecuador are the best way to explore the unique wildlife of this stunning archipelago. Itineraries vary in length from several days to a week or more, with a wide choice of boats varying in size, design and cost.

Patagonia expedition cruises sail from southern Argentina to Chile, and vice versa, navigating via Glacier Alley and Cape Horn.

Expedition cruises to the Falkland Islands and Antarctica use much larger vessels capable of handling the polar ice.

You need to be relatively mobile to enjoy an expedition cruise, as you will disembark twice a day for excursions, making your way down a gangplank into a zodiac-type inflatable.

Houseboats

Houseboats are a relaxing way to watch the world go by. They are the perfect way to explore the mighty Amazon River, the largest in South America, whether boarding from Manaus in Brazil, Coca in Ecuador or Iquitos in Peru.

You can also explore Brazil's southern Pantanal by houseboat or sail down the Magdalena River in Colombia.

India has houseboats that sail down the Brahmaputra and Ganges Rivers and are wonderful for observing local life. You can also spend a night on a traditional rice houseboat gliding through the Kerala backwaters.

In Africa, Botswana has houseboats on the Chobe River, superb for both wildlife viewing and tiger fishing, whilst Zimbabwe has houseboats on Lake Kariba. Lake Jozini in South Africa also offers tiger fishing by houseboat.

Houseboat facilities will be en suite, but expect the cabins on many boats to be relatively small and simple.

Ocean Cruises

Through our sister company, Auriel Holidays, we can source a wide variety of ocean cruises that can tie in with tailor-made land arrangements, either before or after your cruise.

Accessible Travel

If you are a wheelchair user or have limited mobility, long-haul travel poses a unique set of challenges, but as the UK market leader in accessible safari holidays we have considerable expertise in this field. Our greatest experience is in Southern and East Africa, but we have been expanding our knowledge in recent years and we now also offer accessible holidays to India, Sri Lanka and Latin America.

Whether you are simply unsure about travelling without assistance, walk with sticks or use a wheelchair permanently, we can design a holiday appropriate to your needs. We know which hotels and lodges are accessible (i.e. ramps, roll-in showers and grab rails) and which are not, and your private guide can travel with a shower chair if needed. However if you use a power chair, we will need to get the approval of the airline before we can confirm your holiday.

In South Africa, Zimbabwe, Kenya, Tanzania and Namibia we have access to a small number of accessible vehicles, with ramps for wheelchairs. If you have upper body strength and can transfer into a regular vehicle, you will have more destination choices.

In India we also have a few accessible vehicles on the famous Golden Triangle route. In Latin America accessible vehicles are found mostly in the larger cities, but if you use a manual wheelchair we can take you to places such as Machu Picchu and the Galapagos Islands.

The accessible section of our website showcases the many destinations we offer, but as you will have many questions please call us to discuss your specific needs or visit us in person and we will be happy to go through all the details with you.

As accessible hotels, guides and vehicles are always in short supply, you should book your holiday well in advance.
