

Welcome

Travel has been my life for over 20 years. St Augustine's famous quote remains as true to me today as it was when I first set up 2by2 Holidays – "the world is a book and those who do not travel, read only one page".

My first love was Africa, the place of my birth. Its remarkable wildlife and cultures continue to captivate me today. A recent visit to the wildlife of the Serengeti has starkly reminded me just how fragile the survival of so many endangered species remains and reinforced my belief that travel must always have conservation at its heart.

In recent years I have discovered the joys of travel in the Indian subcontinent and Latin America. The iconic sites and cultures there are no less enthralling and everywhere wildlife adapts and survives, from harsh barren deserts to cool mountain cloud forests and tropical wetlands.

My enthusiasm burns as brightly as ever and I continue to be as involved in every aspect of the business as I always have been, backed up by our superb travel team. I'm particularly thrilled that so many of our customers return time after time.

I do hope you find our latest brochure inspiring and we all look forward to hearing from you.

Tanzania & Zanzibar

Tanzania is blessed with breathtaking natural wonders. It is home to snow-capped Kilimanjaro, the highest freestanding mountain in the world. Twenty-five percent of its lands are game-rich conservation areas, over 1,000 bird species have been recorded, and it has pristine Indian Ocean beaches. However, it is the iconic Serengeti that really puts Tanzania on the tourist map. The annual migration of almost two million wildebeest and other plains game is legendary.

Part of the Republic of Tanzania, the exotic Zanzibar archipelago offers visitors an idyllic Indian Ocean experience with palm-fringed white sandy beaches, turquoise seas and a rich history shaped by the spice trade.

Game viewing on the open plains of Tanzania's Serengeti National Park is simply world-class. The density and volume of game year-round makes this one of Africa's finest safari experiences.

Serengeti National Park

At almost 6,000 square miles, the grassy plains of the Serengeti National Park are seemingly infinite, and when combined with the private reserves that border it and Kenya's Masai Mara, the entire ecosystem is almost twice that size. Vast herds of herbivores including wildebeest, zebra, topi, gazelle and impala graze on the savanna together with giraffe and buffalo.

Inevitably it's the interaction between the predators and the plains game that provides much of the thrill of a safari, and the Serengeti is home to a large number of lion as well as cheetah, spotted hyena and jackal. Patches of woodland and granite outcrops provide cover for leopard and the sightings here of this elusive big cat are superb.

Due to the limited permanent water supply, the annual rains have a significant influence on the movement of the wildlife, causing the animals to migrate long distances. The rains start falling in November, with January to March being the calving season, when the wildebeest congregate in the south.

Game everywhere is plentiful, but by early May the grasses have dried out and the wildebeest and zebra begin to congregate in readiness for their trek northwards in search of fresh pastures. And so the greatest wildlife migration on earth begins. Their first major hurdle is the crocodile-filled Grumeti River where crossings are spectacular due to the sheer number of animals but also fraught with danger, as many don't make it to safety.

By August the bulk of the migration has reached the Mara River in the far north of the Serengeti, and has crossed over the border into the Masai Mara in Kenya.

Following the November rains in the Serengeti, the grasses are fresh and sweet again, and the wildebeest herds begin to return from the Masai Mara, crossing back once more, and the annual cycle begins all over again. While there is a general pattern to the migration, exact routes and dates vary considerably depending on the rains so it can be hard to predict in advance.

As most predators stay in their established territories, the game viewing is good in the Serengeti all year round.

Ngorongoro Crater

Tanzania's northern circuit is a classic, offering some of the finest safari experiences in Africa. It takes in the Serengeti, Ngorongoro Crater, Lake Manyara and the tree-climbing lions of Tarangire.

Almost as iconic as the vast plains of the Serengeti, the Ngorongoro Crater is a wildlife hotspot and a World Heritage Site. The focal point of the Ngorongoro Conservation Area, this huge caldera spans over 12 miles in diameter and from the rim to the crater floor, steep forested walls descend 600 metres. The outer slopes are sprinkled with coffee plantations and there are some attractive small lodges here that provide an ideal base for exploring the area. Alternatively, there are a number of larger hotels located on the rim, some with breathtaking views over the crater.

An abundance of wildlife can be seen on the crater floor including large herds of zebra and wildebeest, as well as many water birds in the more marshy areas. This is Big Five territory and sightings of lion, elephant and buffalo are extremely likely. The chances of encountering the endangered Black rhino are also very good and leopard can be spotted in the quieter wooded areas. While the crater gets very busy at times, the wildlife sightings can be out of this world, and the experience should not be missed.

Located between the Serengeti and Ngorongoro, the Olduvai Gorge is the most famous archaeological site in East Africa. Here Louis and Mary Leakey discovered the remains of early man. The majority of visitors to the four national parks on the Northern Circuit will travel on an escorted small group tour or by four-wheel drive vehicle, with their own private driver/guide and a visit here makes an interesting break on the journey.

Lake Manyara National Park provides the perfect introduction to Tanzania's birdlife. Regular inhabitants include thousands of pink-hued flamingos and other large water birds such as the pelican, cormorant, stork and Africa fish eagle. Ernest Hemingway proclaimed that the setting of Lake Manyara was "the loveliest I have seen in Africa".

Nearby Tarangire is the least well known of the four national parks on the classic northern circuit. This is due in part to the abundance of woodland that means the vegetation is denser here, making it harder to spot game. However the prolific elephant population is highly visible year round and during the dry season between June and October, many animals are attracted to the permanent waters of the Tarangire River. Known for its tree-climbing lions and its gigantic baobab trees, the national park is also a birding hotspot with over 500 recorded species including raptors such as the Palm nut vulture as well as the Yellow-billed and Saddle-billed stork.

Ruaha National Park

At over 18,000 square miles, Southern Tanzania's vast Selous Game Reserve (now known as Nyerere National Park) is the largest in Africa. Less visited than the northern parks, the bush in the Selous feels wilder, more remote and denser.

The lodges in the Selous tend to be small with strong eco-credentials, and are concentrated in the north of the reserve where there is a series of small lakes and interconnecting rivers. An exciting range of game viewing experiences are on offer in addition to the standard game drives, including guided walks, game viewing by boat and overnight fly camping.

Large numbers of elephant are very much in evidence, as are giraffe, many species of antelope and hippo. Sightings of lion are common and the reserve is an important sanctuary for the African wild dog. Birdlife is excellent including several species of pelican, stork, plover, ibis and heron as well as various raptors. While the game in the Selous is plentiful, seeking it out can be a little more challenging because of the terrain, but highly rewarding.

A safari in the Selous combines well with a trip to the Ruaha National Park, one of the most bio-diverse reserves in Tanzania. There is a notable volume of wildlife here that is relatively easy to spot in the rugged semi-arid landscapes. Wild dog and lion can be seen here too.

For those with bigger budgets, Western Tanzania offers a truly exclusive fly-in experience. In the dry season, Katavi National Park is as game-rich as any of Tanzania's reserves. Beautiful Mahale

National Park and Gombe Stream, on the shores of Lake Tanganyika, are the places to see wild chimpanzee, made famous by the work of primatologist Jane Goodall. Due to years of research, groups of chimpanzee have become semi-habituated to humans, making it easier to track and spend time watching them as they go about their daily activities, which is a very special experience.

When to go

Tanzania has a warm equatorial climate. The best time to visit is from June to October (the cooler, drier months) and from January to March (when it is much hotter). The 'short rains' fall from mid-November to mid-December. The much heavier 'long rains' fall in April and May. The annual wildebeest migration starts with calving in the southern Serengeti from mid-January to mid-March. In June and July the animals move slowly towards the Grumeti River, before crossing into Kenya in August, with the exact timing depending on the rains. Birding is best from November to March, as this is when the migrants visit. Diving in Zanzibar is best in March/April and July/August, when the winds change direction, but October to March are also good. Deep sea fishing for marlin is best from November to March.

Zanzibar

There are few better ways to round off a thrilling safari than by relaxing on an idyllic Indian Ocean beach. Choose the Swahili Coast or the spice island of Zanzibar.

Tanzania offers visitors easy access to secluded luxury beach lodges on its Swahili Coast and at Saadani National Park, where there are azure seas, pristine coral reefs, lagoons and historic ports such as Bagamoyo to explore. It's also just a short hop to the turquoise island of Zanzibar. Here the powder white sandy beaches, outstanding snorkelling and world-class diving, as well as the delicious fresh seafood, make Zanzibar one of the most appealing Indian Ocean experiences.

As well as offering a host of superb marine activities, there is much to explore in Zanzibar. A guided tour of historic Stone Town, a World Heritage Site, is a must. Here there are bustling markets, ancient palaces and Arab influenced mansions with huge, ornate wooden doors. Visitors can also learn about Zanzibar's dark history as a slaving port and visit Prison Island, which is now a haven for giant tortoises. For wildlife enthusiasts, the Jozani Forest provides an important sanctuary for the endangered Zanzibari Red colobus monkey.

The archipelago consists of two large islands – Unguja (usually referred to as Zanzibar) and the less developed, fertile Pemba – as well as a number of appealing smaller castaway islands such as Mafia (ideal for diving), Chumbe and Mnemba. There is a wide choice of accommodation across the archipelago from simple beach lodges to 5-star hotels, with some eco-conscious options.

Zanzibar Safari

- DAY 1 Arrive in Dar Es Salaam & fly to Selous, with afternoon game viewing
 - DAYS 2/3 Thrilling Big Five game viewing in the largest wildlife reserve in Africa
 - DAYS 4/5 Fly to historic Stone Town on Zanzibar Island, with included walking tour
 - DAYS 6/10 Transfer to your beach resort, with its sparkling turquoise waters

- This holiday can easily be combined with Ruaha National Park.

If you are sufficiently fit, you can even combine a safari in East Africa with climbing Mount Kilimanjaro, accompanied by experienced mountain guides.

Birding

Many of our customers are avid birders who want to spot regional endemics, as well as increase their life list, whilst others are more casual birders who simply enjoy the pleasure of identifying known species and spotting new ones. Whichever category you fit into, we know how important it is to design an itinerary that visits the best birding regions, at the right time of year.

With our extensive network of specialist birding guides, we can tailor make private tours to key destinations such as Costa Rica, Colombia, Mexico, Chile, Argentina, Peru, Ecuador and Galapagos, Brazil, Guyana, Madagascar, South Africa, Botswana, Kenya, Tanzania, India, Bhutan and Sri Lanka. We can also help you track down iconic species, such as the Harpy eagle in Panama.

We offer cheaper lodge-based birding holidays too, using guides employed by the various lodges – although the quality of guiding can vary – and a few scheduled departure tours in high demand countries such as Costa Rica.

Sports & Cultural Events

As we tailor make all our holidays, we cater to a wide range of special interests.

Golf

Our golf holidays in South Africa are particularly popular, allowing golfers to escape the northern winter and combine championship golf with wine tasting and a luxury safari or beach break. You can select the courses you wish to play, varying from social to world class.

Riding

Our riding holidays vary from thrilling mobile horseback safaris in Big Five territory for experienced riders, to family-friendly lodge-based riding holidays suitable for all levels.

Cultural Events

We can also build a holiday around special events such as the Rio Carnival, Holi in India or the Day of the Dead celebrations in Mexico

Cruises & Houseboats

Expedition cruises explore regions that are difficult to reach in other ways, whilst relaxing houseboats provide a different perspective from the water.

Expedition Cruises

Expedition cruises to the Galapagos Islands in Ecuador are the best way to explore the unique wildlife of this stunning archipelago. Itineraries vary in length from several days to a week or more, with a wide choice of boats varying in size, design and cost.

Patagonia expedition cruises sail from southern Argentina to Chile, and vice versa, navigating via Glacier Alley and Cape Horn.

Expedition cruises to the Falkland Islands and Antarctica use much larger vessels capable of handling the polar ice.

You need to be relatively mobile to enjoy an expedition cruise, as you will disembark twice a day for excursions, making your way down a gangplank into a zodiac-type inflatable.

Houseboats

Houseboats are a relaxing way to watch the world go by. They are the perfect way to explore the mighty Amazon River, the largest in South America, whether boarding from Manaus in Brazil, Coca in Ecuador or Iquitos in Peru.

You can also explore Brazil's southern Pantanal by houseboat or sail down the Magdalena River in Colombia.

India has houseboats that sail down the Brahmaputra and Ganges Rivers and are wonderful for observing local life. You can also spend a night on a traditional rice houseboat gliding through the Kerala backwaters.

In Africa, Botswana has houseboats on the Chobe River, superb for both wildlife viewing and tiger fishing, whilst Zimbabwe has houseboats on Lake Kariba. Lake Jozini in South Africa also offers tiger fishing by houseboat.

Houseboat facilities will be en suite, but expect the cabins on many boats to be relatively small and simple.

Ocean Cruises

Through our sister company, Auriel Holidays, we can source a wide variety of ocean cruises that can tie in with tailor-made land arrangements, either before or after your cruise.

Accessible Travel

If you are a wheelchair user or have limited mobility, long-haul travel poses a unique set of challenges, but as the UK market leader in accessible safari holidays we have considerable expertise in this field. Our greatest experience is in Southern and East Africa, but we have been expanding our knowledge in recent years and we now also offer accessible holidays to India, Sri Lanka and Latin America.

Whether you are simply unsure about travelling without assistance, walk with sticks or use a wheelchair permanently, we can design a holiday appropriate to your needs. We know which hotels and lodges are accessible (i.e. ramps, roll-in showers and grab rails) and which are not, and your private guide can travel with a shower chair if needed. However if you use a power chair, we will need to get the approval of the airline before we can confirm your holiday.

In South Africa, Zimbabwe, Kenya, Tanzania and Namibia we have access to a small number of accessible vehicles, with ramps for wheelchairs. If you have upper body strength and can transfer into a regular vehicle, you will have more destination choices.

In India we also have a few accessible vehicles on the famous Golden Triangle route. In Latin America accessible vehicles are found mostly in the larger cities, but if you use a manual wheelchair we can take you to places such as Machu Picchu and the Galapagos Islands.

The accessible section of our website showcases the many destinations we offer, but as you will have many questions please call us to discuss your specific needs or visit us in person and we will be happy to go through all the details with you.

As accessible hotels, guides and vehicles are always in short supply, you should book your holiday well in advance.

Small Group Tours

We offer a range of sociable small group tours in many of our key destinations, if you don't want to travel independently or self drive.

Southern Africa

South Africa offers a range of small group tours, travelling from beautiful Cape Town along the scenic Garden Route to Port Elizabeth. Afterwards you can add on a Big Five safari in the Eastern Cape. Alternatively, you can combine the wildlife of the famous Kruger National Park with Eswatini (Swaziland), Zululand and the beaches of Durban.

Namibia tours take in this country's dramatic landscapes, from the Fish River Canyon to Etosha, with longer tours travelling through the lush Caprivi to Victoria Falls.

Botswana wildlife tours are generally done under canvas, exploring the wildlife of the Okavango Delta and Chobe.

East Africa

Kenya small group tours visit the famous Masai Mara, the elephants of Samburu and Amboseli in the foothills of Mount Kilimanjaro, with shorter tours from Mombasa.

Tanzania tours explore the northern circuit of Tarangire, Ngorongoro Crater and the vast open plains of the wildlife-rich Serengeti.

Uganda tours focus on chimp and gorilla trekking. Ethiopia tours explore its ancient history.

Latin America

Peru tours visit Cusco and the stunning Inca citadel at Machu Picchu, with an extension to Lake Titicaca and the salt flats of Bolivia. Alternatively, you can combine Peru with Ecuador and the fascinating Galapagos Islands.

Brazil tours combines vibrant Rio de Janeiro with the thundering Iguassu Falls, whilst tours of Argentina and Chile focus on their capital cities and the dramatic landscapes of spectacular Patagonia.

Mexico small group tours explore their pyramids and the spectacular Mayan ruins of the Yucatan, before relaxing on the warm Mayan Riviera.
